8.2 POSTER BOLLARDS

Mr Jim Wilson of Phantom Billstickers advised that there was a large number of activities held in the city and the cheapest option for advertising these is postering.

His proposal was for his company to provide and maintain newly designed poster bollards along similar lines to that of the Adshell bus shelter set.

He would prefer a simple contract with the Council regarding the maintenance and operation of the bollards, which would also give some protection to the substantial investment his company would be making in the cost of the bollards.

Dorenda Britten of Dorenda Britten Design tabled a preliminary sketch of the new bollard, which she said would have the added advantage of being easier to keep tidy and which could be illuminated as well as being multi-functional. This in turn could lead to the reduction in the number of poles and posts at intersections, and relevant signage could be incorporated in bollards.

Discussion was taken in conjunction with clause 1.
