

4. AYSLEY TERRACE – A LIVING STREET

The Board's recommendation was sought to the Sustainable Transport and Utilities Committee with respect to the Aynsley Terrace, Living Streets project proceeding to detailed design and construction.

Concern was raised regarding the point at which the Living Streets project ends (where Aynsley Terrace meets with Garlands Road), as there still remains a piece of Aynsley Terrace to the north of that intersection that has not received the same treatment.

Board members acknowledged the gifting of some land from the owner of Heathbrae House, who was thanked for her contribution not only to the project, but also to the city.

The Board decided to recommend that the Sustainable Transport and Utilities Committee support the Aynsley Terrace Living Streets project for detailed design and construction, and request that, as part of the project, staff adjust the current red cycleway to make it less obtrusive.
