

8. PROPOSED APPROACH FOR CONSIDERING THE REVIEW OF CURRENT POLICIES RELATED TO THE PUBLIC PLACES BYLAW

At its first session on 24 March, the Public Places Policy Working Party proposed that, due to the amount of information it needed to consider, and subsequently the Regulation and Planning Committee, as components of the reviewed policy are considered by the Working Party, a staged approach for reporting to the Regulation and Planning Committee be adopted. This would mean that components, such as public streets enclosures, trading in public places or signboards policies would be reported to Regulation and Planning Committee as separate components of the full policy, rather than delaying until the full policy is ready for consideration. Components are capable of being stand alone policies or forming parts of one document.
