	Christchurch City Vision
	I believe that it is often better to listen than talk, and once the talking is done decisive action must be taken.
	A fresh perspective is needed in Christchurch to scrutinise as many options as reasonably possible.

We need to recapture the pioneering spirit and grasp novel solutions with both hands when appropriate.

Those that prosper in society owe a debt to enriching society in return. Those who wilfully act to hamper and destroy public and private property should face real and meaningful consequences.

The community has a moral obligation to care for the weak, young, elderly and infirm and fair-minded people should represent their interests. You can rely on me to do the right thing.
