Dear Mr. Moore,

This is a plea for continuance of the mobile library service Being elderly and partially disabled, my activities are limited and my main recreation is reading.

The mobile library stop at Edgeware is very convenient for me, being only a five minute bus ride away, and my visits to the mobile library bus there are a highlight of my existence.

Without this I am a bus ride plus a long walk from the central library or a branch library which I could not comfortably manage. The alternative would be going by taxi which is outside my budget.

The saving from stopping the mobile library service seems very small in terms of the Council's overall spending and the disadvantage to many elderly or partially disabled people like me who have come to depend on it.

If the council is determined to save on the mobile library service, what about making a small charge per book borrowed, say $1.

I, and I am sure many other people would accept this to save the service.

If you can arrange for the Council to keep the mobile library service, I and many other people will be most grateful

Yours sincerely

Paul Jacobson
