Your Submission:	LTCCP - Submission for the CCC Thanks for the email about the possible library closures. <ol style="list-style-type: none">1. What would blind people do about getting talking books if the libraries closed?2. When we lived the country i.e.Hawarden, where there was limited resource material available in the local school for school projects, we had to travel 1-2hrs into Ch.Ch. to let our children resource a wider selection of books. Not everyone has computers to aid them with projects.3. Mobile libraries were especially useful when our youngest child went to kindergarten. The child nor the parent were threatened by having to learn the ins and outs of finding books, compared with a large library where everything is on a much bigger scale. It doesn't take THAT long to remember when the library bus is due near your house.4. How are people going to learn to read for themselves if the libraries are going to close. Reading sessions are great fun for children.5 Where are our future generation going to train for a career as a librarian if libraries are going to close? Trusting that this is useful to you. Yours Georgina Smith
