Lyttelton harbour Environment is fragile and scenic. It is becoming more & more populated.
Believe it should be included in the councils 5 year plan to construct a sewage scheme to catch all the effluent that is leaching into the harbour. Historically, summer batches did not place much strain on the thin layer of soil. However, now that the population is more permanent the land does not have time to absorb. It is just a matter of time before the harbour becomes less than pleasant to be near. The upper harbour is not deep even in high tide and there just isn't that much water to flush out the growing problem. Council must plan now because in 5 years it will be a large concern.
