A mother of two adult daughters, with two grandchildren, I have a wide range of community interests. As a Justice of the Peace, I serve on the Canterbury District Court Panel, which has given me understanding of many of the problems facing our community. I have been President of the Woolston Club for the past eight years and am Vice-President of Clubs N.Z. and Chairperson of Clubs N.Z. Sports Council. Since 1998 I have been a member of the Burwood-Pegasus Community Board with special links to two residents associations. I have also been a trustee for a local employment programme and a member of the Community Grants Committee.

My active involvement has strengthened my knowledge of the activities in the ward and my desire to work with and advocate for all who live in this unique community. I believe in finding local solutions to local problems. Phone 3899984.

As a married union official and community advocate, I support continued ownership by the City Council of its trading enterprises as they provide income for the city and remain under community control. However, I would like greater accountability by Council representatives on the boards of these companies to the citizens of Christchurch. I am keen to see New Brighton rejuvenated, with a reduction of the commercial area and more residential development to bring more people around Brighton. However, I am against the 'slow road' through the mall. I strongly support an environmental cleanup of both the Estuary and the rivers that flow into it. Not afraid to argue strongly for people I represent, I suggest that I have an ability to listen, clearly sort out issues and work with people to help them achieve a better community and city in which to live. I'm from the 'more doey/less hui' side of Maoridom. Many of you will already know me from my five years in Aranui with Mature Employment and seven years community voluntary work. I'm pretty down-to-earth and have definite views on issues like jobs, education and crime. I believe we need to have people with practical, real-life experience involved in politics. One thing I have learned in Aranui is that, for young and old, a big barrier to work is lack of skills. We need to be able to bridge these barriers, with sensible community-driven programmes. While I will listen to Councillor colleagues, I will also push for greater job and education opportunities in the Pegasus Ward. I want to encourage more of the community to learn new skills. I also want to help improve community safety and give everyone the chance to feel like a positive part of their area. Ph9810773.
