My child is 20 months old and attends St Albans Edu-Care on Thames Street, St Albans. I read a local paper which had an article about the Council raising the leases for such preschools and my concern is that our preschool will not be able to manage and therefore will have to close. I've heard of other preschools closing (such as QE11) and feel this is such a shame - surely the idea is to look after future generations? I feel should our preschool have to close and the child have to find alternative care, this would be extremely upsetting for all involved and very unsettling for the children.
