I just want to say i think this is the best idea the council has had for the city mall, and hope they will then consider permanent tramways down major routes such as riccarton rd and papanui rd which are currently over used. Boston for example, has a fantastic overground tram system as do most european cities, and it works best where the tram is given a seperate track space in the middle of the road with islands commuters can wait at to catch trams. They are clean and green and modern. As an advancing city i believe we should be the first to re-adopt this fantastic form of transport in New Zealand.
